

M&T Bank Appoints Charles Pinckney as Hudson Valley Regional President

March 20, 2025

ALBANY, N.Y., March 20, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- M&T Bank (NYSE: MTB) has announced Charles Pinckney, Regional President for Albany, will take on the additional responsibility of Regional President for M&T Bank's Hudson Valley region. Pinckney has assumed these additional responsibilities to help strengthen M&T's presence in the community and enhance service to customers throughout the region. Pinckney succeeds Mark Stellwag, who announced his planned retirement at the end of 2024.

In this expanded role, Pinckney will partner closely with the community bank leadership team for the Hudson Valley – including members of its retail banking, business banking, commercial banking, wealth management, government banking, and charitable teams.

"A lifelong resident of the Capital Region with an enduring commitment to its communities, Charles is well-positioned to guide M&T Bank's efforts fostering economic growth and supporting local businesses," said Mike Keegan, M&T Bank Senior Executive Vice President and Head of Community Banking. "Charles is a proven leader with an exceptional track record in driving growth and creating opportunities that strengthen and uplift our local neighbors. He demonstrates an innate ability to connect with his colleagues and understands what makes a region successful."

Pinckney joined M&T Bank in 2008 and has held various leadership positions in M&T's commercial real estate, middle market, healthcare, and not-for-profit businesses. Throughout his tenure, he has been actively engaged in the community, serving as the Vice Chair of the Center for Disability Services Governing Board of Directors and Chair of the Center's Commercial Services Division. Pinckney also sits on the board of the Capital Region Chamber, the Center for Economic Growth (CEG) Leadership Board, and the Palace Theatre. He was named to the Albany Business Review's 40 Under 40 in 2016 and to the publication's Power 50: New Momentum list in 2023.

"I look forward to building on the leadership of my friend and colleague, Mark Stellwag, in the Hudson Valley," Pinckney said. "Working alongside M&T's Hudson Valley team, I've been closely connected to our efforts in the region and the many ways we make a difference for our local clients and communities. In remaining true to our community-based business model, our team will continue to be deeply embedded, collaborating with local businesses and nonprofits to help the region achieve its aspirations."

M&T Bank has a strong presence in Albany and the Hudson Valley with a network of 40 branches spanning 20 counties across the region. Its local engagement model ensures that decisions about community activities, grants, and lending are made locally, enabling a more personalized approach to banking.
